

The Poisoned Pilgrim: A Hangman's Daughter Tale

By Pötzsch, Oliver. Chadeayne, Lee, Translator.

Mariner. 1 Paperback(s), 2012. soft. Book Condition: New. In this fourth tale of hangman Jakob Kuisl and his daughter Magdalena, some years have passed since the events of The Beggar King, The Dark Monk, and The Hangman's Daughter; it is 1666, and Magdalena and Simon Fronweiser have started a family of their own in their Bavarian town. When they take a pilgrimage to the monastery at Andechs, however, they find that the monks there have far larger concerns than saying Mass and receiving alms. Hoping to deflect lightning strikes, two monks have dabbled in alchemical sciences and when one disappears and his lab is destroyed, Magdalena sends for her father to help solve the mystery, before the anxious villagers burn down the monastery." [In Oliver] Pötzsch's stellar fourth Hangman's Daughter mystery. Magdalena and Simon, the parents of two boys, leave the children with Magdalena's parents in order to undertake a pilgrimage to the monastery at Andecha trip that turns out to be anything but spiritual. When Coelestina novice who stumbled onto a horrific heresy drowns, his death is deemed accidental, until Simon notices marks of violence on the corpse. More deaths follow, and the arrest of Brother Johannes, an old friend of Kuisl,...
